THE LAWN MOWER.

Go get the old lawnmower out,
And polish off the rust;
Put oil in all the little holes,
And clean out all the dust.
Do all you can to soften down
That irritating click,
And sharpen up the cutting knives—
You'll need it pretty quick.
The emerald whiskers on your lawn
Will soon be getting long,
The exercise of trimming them
Will make your muscles strong.
So get the old lawnmower out—
But make this little mom:
Don't ever try to cut your grass
Till after 7 a. m.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.

Resolutions on the Death of Miss Elizabeth Peed Wilson.

At a meeting of the Alumnae of the Maysville High School held at the High School Building Friday, May 18th, 1894, to take action upon the death of Miss Elizabeth P. Wilson, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, Our sister, Elizabeth P. Wilson, has in the very morning of her beautiful life, received and obeyed the summons from above, "The Master hath need of thee, come up higher;" and, whereas, it cannot be wrong while bowing unfeignedly to the gracious orderings of our loving Heavenly Father to weep as Jesus did at the grave of a cherished friend and to recount her virtues for our own consolation and encouragement; resolved,

First—That we recognize in our departed sister an unusually bright exemplar of all the Christian and womanly virtues and graces which so adorn every relation in life.

Second—That in her removal, not only her home and her immediate circle of friends, but the church, the whole community and especially the schools have sustained an irreparable loss.

Third—That while in the tenderness of human sympathy we would gather around and offer our condolence to those who have been so sorely smitten we would point them for comfort to Him who hath said, "The Lord will not cast off forever, but though He cause grief, yet will He have compassion according to the multitude of His mercies. For He doth not afflict willingly, nor grieve the children of men." In the hope of a glorious resurrection we commit her body to the dust, her memory to those who love most worth, and her spirit to God who gave it, confident that the great day will show that "He hath done all things well."

On the death of Miss Elizabeth Peed Wilson the following resolutions were adopted by the teachers of Maysville, May 14th, 1894:

WHEREAS, The great Husbandman has called from her earthly existence to His heavenly garner our beloved co-worker and fellow teacher, Miss Elizabeth Peed Wilson; be it

Resolved, By the teachers of the Maysville Public Schools that in her death these schools have lost a most earnest and efficient teacher, her church a consistent and faithful member, her family an affectionate and dutiful daughter and sister, and the community one who justly merited the honor and high esteem accorded by all who knew her.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted to the family of the deceased with assurances of our heartfelt sympathy and condolence in view of this our second common and very severe bereavement during this school year.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to THE MAYSVILLE PUBLIC LEDGER and Maysville Bulletin with a request to be published.

WHEN ALL ELSE FAILED.

Paine's Celery Compound Made Mrs. Leighton and Her Sister Well Again.

"O, I'm only a little nervous."

"I didn't use to be."

"What can I do to overcome it?"

Just what a woman means by being a little nervous she can't exactly say. She tells you she is restless; that she can no longer sew or read; conversation no longer interests, or it even troubles her; noises startle her, and she cries for no cause.

Such are the first small beginnings of nervous weakness. The world is full of loving, patient wives and mothers who have been called upon to suffer intense emotional strain; have undertaken to nurse those dear to them through protracted illness, or have worked beyond their physical powers.

During the many years of hard and wonderful work, Professor Edward E. Phelps, Dartmouth's great Professor, had these weak, "run down" women in mind. The study of such cases of nervous prostration, neuralgia, rheumatism, dyspepsia and debility led him to that most marvelous discovery of the century, Paine's Celery Compound. Professor Phelps became convinced that the trouble in all these cases of weakness lay in a disturbance of nutrition.

The cure lies in purer, richer blood and better fed nervous tissues. Paine's

Celery Compound stirs the excretive organs, the liver and kidneys, to stronger action; the blood grows at once purer and redder and more capable of carrying nutriment and oxygen to every nerve and muscular fiber of the body.

Paine's Celery Compound makes people well by building up new tissues in place of the old; regulating shaky nerves by appropriate nerve food and sending a strong, full tide of pure blood through the diseased parts of the liver, heart, stomach and kidneys.

To worried women, just as to business men staggering under financial adversity, comes nervousness and final breakdown. "I am not ill enough to take medicine," she too often says, and puts off from day to day the correction of her trouble.

Paine's Celery Compound is the great spring medicine. It cures every form of nervous weakness and the special disorders of liver, heart, stomach and kidneys that arise from impure blood and a "run down" system badly nourished.

These are the difficulties that Paine's Celery Compound corrects. It builds up the whole body, blood, nerves and tissues in a way that nothing else has ever equaled. People get well who thoughtfully and thoroughly try it. For rheumatism it is the one true specific.

Professor F. A. Leighton is instructor and Superintendent of the State Dairy School at Ames, Ia. He has been there several years and is well known throughout the state. His wife, writing to Wells, Richardson & Co., who now prepare Paine's Celery Compound, says:

"Last May I had rheumatism so severely that I could only get around by the aid of crutches. Nothing that I used did me any good, and I despaired of regaining my health. A friend recommended Paine's Celery Compound to me, and I used it regularly for two months. As a result, I was able to visit the World's Fair, staying there for quite awhile and walking all day without any difficulty."

"The compound also did my sister a great deal of good while attending college, giving her strength and health. There is nothing I know of in the world that is its equal for building up the weak and run down, and giving strength and tone to the system. I am better than for years, and ascribe my improvement wholly to the use of Paine's Celery Compound."

This is one of thousands of similar testimonials that Paine's Celery Compound is the remedy that makes people well.
